A Teaching Moment...

Do we read from the Bible at Mass?

Readings from Scripture are part of every Mass. At least two readings, one always from the Gospels, (3 always on Sundays and solemnities) make up the Liturgy of the Word. In addition, a psalm or canticle is sung.

These readings are typically read from a Lectionary, not a Bible, though the Lectionary is taken from the Bible.

What's the difference between a Bible and a Lectionary?

A Lectionary is composed of the readings and the responsorial psalm assigned for each Mass of the year (Sundays, weekdays, and special occasions). The readings are divided by the day or the theme (baptism, marriage, vocations, etc.) rather than according to the books of the Bible. Introductions and conclusions have been added to each reading. Not all of the Bible is included in the Lectionary.

How is the Lectionary arranged?

The Lectionary is arranged in two cycles, one for Sundays and one for weekdays.

The Sunday cycle is divided into three years, labeled A, B, and C. For example, 2017 was Year A. 2018 was Year B, 2019 is Year C, etc. We are currently in Year C. In Year A, we read mostly from the Gospel of Matthew. In Year B, the Gospel of Mark and chapter 6 of the Gospel of John. In Year C, we read the Gospel of Luke. The Gospel of John is read during the Easter season in all three years. The first reading, usually from the Old Testament, reflects important themes from the Gospel reading. The second reading is usually from one of the epistles, a letter written to an early church community. Each Sunday, we pick up close to where we left off the Sunday before, though some passages are never read.

The weekday cycle is divided into two years, Year I and Year II. Year I is read in odd-numbered years (2017, 2019, etc.) and Year II is used in even-numbered years (2018, 2020, etc.) The Gospels for both years are the same. During the year, the Gospels are read semi-continuously, beginning with Mark, then moving on to Matthew and Luke. The Gospel of John is read during the Easter season. For Advent, Christmas, and Lent, readings are chosen that are appropriate to the season. The first reading on weekdays may be taken from the Old or the New Testament.

The year of the cycle does not change on January 1, but on the First Sunday of Advent (usually late November) which is the beginning of the liturgical year.

In addition to the Sunday and weekday cycles, the Lectionary provides readings for feasts of the saints, for common celebrations such as Marian feasts, for ritual Masses (weddings, funerals, etc.), for votive Masses, and for various needs. These readings have been selected to reflect the themes of these celebrations.

PARENTING POINTERS

- Jul 7: What do you want to be when you grow up? Jesus said, "The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few." (Luke 10:2) Although this passage is usually applied to religious vocations, laboring as a peacemaker is also a worthy vocation. Talk to your children about how they can be peacemakers with their peers.
- Jul 14: "Love God . . . and your neighbor as yourself." (Luke 10:27) Easy to say but hard to do. Make it practical for your child. Talk about an age appropriate favor that your child can do for someone on your block (give a flower, make cookies, mow the lawn...)
- Jul 21: Is it a chore to get your kids to help around the house. Try out this summer" Job Jar" idea. <http://www.susanvogt.net/EnrichmentEx.htm#Asummerjobjar> It's not too late to start since it doesn't have to end with the end of summer.
- Jul 28: Teach us to pray. Many families do the traditional grace before meals and a bedtime prayer with their children and that is good. But why not try teaching them the Our Father in a simplified sign language. Click (<https://vimeo.com/101669168>) to watch how to do it.
